

RANDOLPH

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Emerson of Lisbon, N. H., arrived here on Saturday night to remain with relatives till Tuesday.

Miss Helene Ranney, daughter of Mrs. Harry Chase, who has been for the last three months at the Northampton Business college, recently passed a fine test in a contest offered and conducted by C. M. Bradford, manager of the Remington Typewriter company, called the gold medal contest. The test was offered to students who could make 55 words a minute net. Miss Ranney won the medal by writing 610 words in ten minutes with four errors. This gave her 30 words per minute. Miss Ranney will soon complete her course there and will return to pass a short time with her mother before taking a position.

Sherman Moulton of Burlington was in town Saturday to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Moulton, returning home that night.

Mrs. W. G. Hodgkins has been very ill for several days with the influenza, and her daughter, Miss Hazel Hodgkins, of Montpelier is here to take care of her. She is reported much more comfortable, and unless other complications arise, will probably recover soon.

Miss Eleanor J. Clark returned on Saturday from Hanover, N. H., where she has been passing the week, to resume her teaching at the opening of school on Monday morning, when the quarantine was removed.

Mrs. Alda Slack Phillips, the mother of R. H. Slack of this place, was taken insane while passing the winter at the home of her son, Warren Slack, in Albany, N. Y., last week, and was brought here for a short stay. Friday she was taken to the Waterbury hospital by R. H. Slack and Dr. L. A. Russell for treatment. Mrs. Phillips has had trouble of this nature in previous years, and it is hoped may recover from this attack.

Wayne Claffin has returned from a business trip to Boston, which extended over a few days.

Mrs. E. I. Claffin, who has been ill with influenza, is improving at present and is able to be up a part of the time.

BETHEL

Miss Kate Bullard went Friday to Rochester to care for four pneumonia patients in one home. Three of the patients are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Winot and Roy Coady, all well known here, and is a Lee Cady was in Rochester Friday to conduct the funeral of Mrs. E. S. French, wife of the superintendent of the White River railway.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Morse of North Dana, Mass., Mrs. Lizzie Griffith of Bridgeport, Conn., and K. W. Morse of Hartford, Conn., were here Saturday at the funeral of their mother, Mrs. Sarah L. Bowen. Mrs. Thomas Hoville of Hartman, Pa., a granddaughter, also was here. Rev. J. Wesley Miller officiated. The bearers were C. H. Call, G. L. Chamberlin, A. J. McIntosh, and Harry Tewksbury. Mrs. Bowen was the last survivor of the 14 children of Thomas and Philia (Kimball) Williams. Her first husband and her brother, Thomas, were killed the same day in the battle of Gettysburg.

The friends of Mrs. Laura Williams, remembered her 75th birthday anniversary last Friday by calling on her and bringing a variety of beautiful presents. Mrs. Nellie Whitaker and Mrs. Willis Whitaker made a birthday cake and Mrs. B. G. Bundy also made one. The flowers were particularly beautiful. Mrs. Williams also received a card shower. She has recovered from her recent illness.

The Columbia sextet gave a high class musical entertainment at the town hall Saturday evening in the Woman's club course. Two of the musicians, who had been ill, arrived from Littleton, N. H., on the milk train, delaying the entertainment an hour.

Mrs. Rosamond Belknap of South Royalton is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. J. M. Shepard.

GRANTEEVILLE

Eloise, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nutbrown, died yesterday after a few days' illness with pneumonia. Besides the parents there are left to mother, three brothers, Ernest, Barney and Byron. The funeral took place from the home at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Interment was in the Wilson cemetery.

Every Morning

Get in the habit of drinking a glass of hot water before breakfast.

We're not here long, so let's make our stay agreeable. Let us live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, and look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet, how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folk who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisons, stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the acid fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast, while you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, biliousness, stomach trouble; others who have slow skin, blood disorders and sickly complexion are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of inside-bathing before breakfast.—Adv.

MARSHFIELD

Fred Breen's Death Caused By Influenza and Pneumonia.

Fred Breen passed away Wednesday, Jan. 29, after a week's illness with influenza and pneumonia. He was 29 years of age and had spent nearly his whole life on the home farm on Depot hill. He was a young man of thrifty habits and highly respected by all. He leaves a wife and two little girls, besides his mother and grandfather, who lived with him. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the bereaved family, especially to the mother, whose other son, John, living in Pittsburg, N. Y., fell a victim to the same disease only a few weeks ago and it took two of his children also. The double affliction makes it unusually sad, as it seems that this life was so much needed. The funeral services were held at 11 p. m. Friday from his late home, Rev. G. A. Turner officiating. The interment was in the Durant cemetery at lower Cabot. Among those present from out of town were Mrs. D. J. McCutcheon of Northfield and Mrs. Jennie Bemis and daughter, Ida, of Lisbon, N. H. The floral tributes were beautiful, bearing silent testimony to the love and esteem of kindred and friends.

A town went over the top in the recent drive for Armenian and Syrian relief, $110 having been secured. The town chairman wishes to thank the solicitors for their efficient service and also all contributors for their generous response to the appeal.

The Christian Endeavor society will give a social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Nute next Friday evening, Feb. 7. Free transportation will be provided. This is the first social of the season. Come and make it an enjoyable occasion. Everyone welcome.

WILLIAMSTOWN

Last Friday evening, following an excellent supper given by the members of the men's class in the Congregational Sunday school, boys of the school acted as waiters, a very pleasant and interesting evening was enjoyed by those who had the good fortune to be present, and quite a number were. Musical numbers, vocal and instrumental, were provided by Dr. C. F. Robinson piano, George W. Simmons violin, and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Simons. The crowning part came, however, in addresses given by two men lately returned from France. Rev. H. F. Brown, a machine gunner of the 26th division, and Rev. W. L. Belmont of Waterbury, who spent a year in Y. M. C. A. work in the vicinity of Lyons. The terse and pithy descriptions of army life and active service, touched off with flashes of humor by the soldier; and the picture of the French people and their ways, their sacrifices, their magnificent courage and that of their allies and some funny incidents of sea travel given by the "Y. M. C. A. man, made a fine combination not readily to be forgotten by those who heard them. Here's hoping the men will entertain again.

Dr. Anna Poor Edison came to town last week Friday for a visit to relatives and returned to her home in Woodsville, N. H., to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Morse and J. C. Burnett, who have been in Bellows Falls for several months, returned to town last week.

Lena Thurber, who has been at William B. Jones' for a time, has finished her engagement and is at home.

The Philatelic class of the Congregational church will hold a business meeting at the home of Mrs. Musette Seaver Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. All members are asked to be present.

A short talk will be given by Everett Waldo at the play, "Rebellious Jane," to be given by the Bachelor Girls at Williamstown Tuesday, Feb. 4. Special features between the acts. Also dance after the play. Seats on sale at McAllister's store.—Adv.

REGAINS WEIGHT
WHEN THIN BLOOD BECOMES HEALTHY

People Run Down in Health Are Among First to Succumb to Epidemic Diseases.

This is the time of the year when many people allow themselves to get into what is commonly termed a "run-down condition." This means generally that they are without ambition, listless, tire easily, sleep lightly or not at all, are subject to headaches and have no appetite for their meals. The condition is not serious in itself, but it may have serious results, because the victim's resistance to disease is lowered, and the first people to fall victim to the influenza epidemics were those who were debilitated and who were suffering from thin blood and weak, undernourished nerves.

Now is the time to build up your blood before the more trying days of spring arrive. Pure blood will bring strength to the nerves and to the weakened organs and will create a desire for wholesome food.

The successful use of a blood building tonic is well illustrated in the case of Miss Winifred Doyle of No. 3 George street, Burlington, Vt. She says:

"I was in a badly run-down condition last spring, due I think to confining, indoor work and lack of plenty of fresh air. I couldn't sleep at night and suffered from frequent sick headaches. I lost twenty-six pounds in a short time."

"I saw Dr. Williams' Pink Pills mentioned in a newspaper and decided to try them. I was very much improved and my condition so much that I continued the treatment for five weeks. As a result I have regained my lost weight, I'm stronger, no longer have headaches and can sleep soundly. I have recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to many of my friends for I am sure that they will find them effective."

The purpose of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is to build up the blood. They do this one thing and they do it well. They are for this reason an invaluable remedy in diseases arising from bad or deficient blood, as rheumatism, neuralgia, after-effects of the grip and fevers. The pills are guaranteed to be free from opiates or any harmful drug and cannot injure the most delicate system.

"Building Up the Blood" is a booklet full of useful information. Every mother and every growing girl should have one. It is sent free on request by Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, fifty cents per box; six boxes for $2.50. Do not pay more.—Adv.

BERLIN CORNERS

Annual Meeting of the Congregational Church a Pleasant Affair.

The annual dinner and after-meeting of the Berlin Corner church was held on Friday. Tables were spread in both the upper and lower parlors and were well filled with the friends present. After enjoying the good things provided by the ladies' Lend-a-Hand society, adjournment was made to the church, where the program commenced with singing by the children's choir, under the able direction of Wilbur Brown. They also sang other selections during the meeting. The pastor gave a resume of the work of the preceding year, noting how the stirring events of the times had been kept in view, not merely in the public prayers of the church, but in the sermons that had been delivered, among the timely topics having been "The Religion of the Soldier," "Mother Love and the War," "Christmas, Its Message of Peace to a War Devastated World," etc.

The membership of the church has slightly increased, all indebtedness was paid and next year largely provided for. The pastor has been introducing children's stories into the morning service and in order to find out if this met with approval of the congregation, he asked for the balance in hand of twelve cents at the close of 1917 to above $10 at the end of 1918.

Two deaths among the six in the community were referred to as especially affecting the church, those of Miss Olive Gurnsey, who had been very active in church work, and Mrs. Lucy Pearson, who, passing away at the advanced age of 92, had been both the oldest member of the church and community.

The pastor recorded the number of pastoral calls as over 350 and mentioned the fact that he had received 13 letters from the 16 boys on the honor roll.

The church has been the center of war work and has tried to do its full share of Red Cross, Liberty loan and kindred work. Mrs. Julia Selma read a very interesting letter descriptive of what he had seen in the city of Paris, where he was quartered, from Clarence Pike, one of the boys over there.

Thus the Berlin church closed another year with the joy of service and looks forward with the hope of God's blessing and help of being of better service still to the community.

WEST BERLIN

Mrs. Clara Jenkins from Barre was a guest of her brother, H. A. Stockwell, last week.

The ladies' aid will meet with Miss Addie Emerson next Thursday afternoon.

The Red Cross will meet with Mrs. Charles A. Leonard next Friday afternoon. Let all the ladies come. There is lots of sewing to be done.

Mrs. B. S. Gove is quite ill with a hard cold, and Orrin Kimball, who is stopping at the same place, is just recovering from one.

E. L. Glynn and C. A. Patterson were in Montpelier Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Provost were in Northfield Saturday.

Next Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock there will be an entertainment in the parish house, given by Dr. Hatch from Montpelier. The program will be the pupils from the primary. There will be readings, also good music. Come, everyone, and enjoy a good time.

Miss Nellie Tilton, teacher in the graded school in this place, was called home by the illness of her father in Williamstown last week.

LABOR CLAUSES IN TREATY.

Provisions Advocated by Justin Godart and Others.

Justin Godart, who made his reputation as chief of the service de sante of the French army, declares that the treaty of peace "should include an agreement by the signatory powers to realize, by an international labor legislation, humane conditions of labor in commerce, agriculture and industry at the same time safeguarding the general and vocational education of the child, maternity, family life, social life, physical and moral health." (Petit Parisien, Dec. 2, 1918.) As deputy from Lyons and reporter of the committee on labor of the Chamber of Deputies, he has secured the adoption of such a proposition by that committee, so that sooner or later it is bound to come before the chamber for discussion.

An international convention forbidding night work by women is already in force as a result of the international conference of Berne in 1906. The second Berne conference, in 1913, agreed to forbid night work for children under 16 and to set a 10-hour day for women and children in industry, but the agreements had not secured diplomatic ratification when the war interrupted the work.

Godart proposes that the peace conference ratify these two provisions at once, and that it further effect the permanent institution of an organ which will realize what the peace treaty cannot decide and will regularly develop international labor legislation. This should be an international labor conference, holding periodic sessions and composed of delegates for the most part named by the national workmen's and employers' associations. It would form a sort of court of arbitration before which would come contests regarding the international labor legislation. This should of peace would fix an early date for the first session of the international conference of labor and would put at least two articles on its first agenda: "The immediate organization in each signatory country of an active inspection of labor whose reports would be comparable; the establishment of an international bureau of labor, an official bureau whose budget, voted by the conference, would be distributed among the states represented."

The treaty might, Godart adds, indicate the reforms which it would like the conference to undertake, such as prohibition of child labor under 14 years of age, an eight-hour day in mines and in factories, where work is continuous, a 10-hour day for all adults, a day-and-half off per week, various insurance provisions, equality of wages and conditions of labor for foreign and native labor, etc.

Neutral nations would, of course, have to take part in such a discussion. Reactionaries attacking the principle are using that fact to disguise their genuine opposition to the whole principle. Auguste Gauvain, for instance, writes in the Journal des Debats for Dec. 3: "Only after the territorial and political settlement has been definitely made can the neutrals be admitted to confer with the belligerents."

If the reformers of the world aspire to discuss these questions, they will furnish to Germany a means of upsetting our alliances and of escaping from the world conflict unscathed.

No one in France seems certain whether there will be a trade union conference at the same time as the peace conference, or what it would do if it did meet. The confederation generale du travail has named no delegates. Such a conference might insist on such agreements on labor laws as those named. The success of labor's drive for international suppression of the phosphorus matches, which ate away many workmen's lives, would be a precedent to encourage them. But the state of feeling in France is hardly favorable to so liberal a project. No one is vitally concerned about it. Jouhaux, when I asked him what he thought of it, shrugged his shoulders and said: "Those are things we have been asking for 20 years." He had small faith in an international treaty as a means of obtaining them. Nevertheless, the fact that Godart, a member of Clemenceau's political body, though not a "Clemenceauite," proposed them, is significant as the first indication in the French bourgeoisie of a readiness to meet labor's demands.—From the Survey.
